

May 19th
5:30-7:30pm

Maryland Hall for the Creative Arts
801 Chase Street, Annapolis, MD

FREE!
RSVP Requested

Preservation50: Putting People at the Forefront of Preservation in the 21st Century

Join Us as Annapolis Celebrates Our 2016 Living Landmarks

Event Sponsored by:

National Trust for Historic Preservation®

Mayor Michael Pantelides invites you to a special gathering hosted by the Annapolis Heritage Commission recognizing the 2016 Living Landmarks honorees:

Annapolis Rotary Club, Annapolis Rotary Foundation, the Community Health Center of Parole, David Porter Fogle, and Anna E. Greenberg. Our special guest speaker will be David Brown, Executive Vice President and Chief Preservation Officer of the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Mr. Brown will address how places change as they are imbued with meaning, memory and stories. Preservation in the 21st century, if it is to be successful, has to show how people and places in the past have shaped us, but these connections must also provide relevancy in the present day and hope for the future. Putting people at the forefront of preservation demonstrates that we must embrace continuity and change to do our work in the 21st century. The presentation of the 2016 Living Landmarks awards is in recognition of the individuals and organizations in Annapolis who demonstrate a sustained commitment to protecting and promoting our cultural heritage.

Honoring Our 2016 Living Landmarks

David Porter Fogle

Alice K. Wright and Lawrence L. Harris, Jr. on behalf of Community Health Center of Parole

Randy Goff on behalf of Annapolis Rotary Club

Mimi Jones on behalf of Annapolis Rotary Foundation

Anna E. Greenberg

Guest Speaker: David Brown, Executive Vice President and Chief Preservation Officer of the National Trust for Historic Preservation

David J. Brown leads the National Trust's comprehensive preservation efforts, with four decades of experience in working to save historic places and build thriving, livable communities. He oversees the Trust's National Treasure campaigns which help protect some of America's most significant and threatened historic places. Today, he serves on the executive committee of the International National Trusts Organisation (INTO) and represents the National Trust on the Board of Trustees of the National Main Street Center.

Preservation50: Putting People at the Forefront of Preservation in the 21st Century is one in a series of lectures scheduled for 2016 in celebration of Preservation50, which recognizes the 50th Anniversary of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, and is the reason we have a federally-certified historic preservation program in Annapolis.

Refreshments will be served.

RSVP to HistPres@annapolis.gov.